Doctors' Pact 'Born' In B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's doctors and Health Minister Ralph Loffmark have drawn up a three-part agreement aimed at ending a dispute between government and the medical profession over the minister's right to intervene in doctors' privileges.

The agreement, outlined Sunday by Dr. A. C. Waldie, president of the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons, calls for:

A co-operative approach by doctors and the government to the distribution of medical manpower;

Establishment of an appeal procedure for doctors applying to join hospital staffs; and

Creation of a board to advise the government on the need for, and distribution of, very costly "super specialist" facilities and care, such as organ transplants and open-heart surgery.

The tentative agreement, the result of weeks of argument and discussion, is contained in a so-called statement of principles to be studied by the cabinet, the College's council and the B.C. Medical Association.

The profession first became embroiled in a bitter dispute with the government following an order-in-council which gave Mr. Loffmark the right to decide which doctors could practise in which hospitals.

Dr. Waldie and Dr. W. J. Corbett, president of the medical association, both said the minister indicated that the order would be replaced by a new one, or by legislation, if all three bodies accept the proposed agreement.

Details of the agreement will not be made public until the cabinet and the medical organizations have seen it. But Dr. Waldie said he decided to disclose the pact's general nature because news reports had indicated Mr. Loffmark backed off from his original position while doctors never changed theirs.

The order-in-council was passed in July, while doctors were negotiating a new fee increase with the government after going without one last year.

At one point in the dispute Premier W. A. Bennett offered to trade revocation of the order for another year without a doctors' rate increase. That prompted Social Credit M.L.A. Dr. George Scott Wallace of Oak Bay, near Victoria, to leave the party to sit as an independent.

U.K. Tries Again On Ulster Crisis

LONDON (Reuters) — The British government will go ahead today with arrangements for proposed talks between Northern Ireland, the Irish Republic and Britain amid speculation that Premier Jack Lynch of the Irish Republic may withdraw before they have even started.

Lynch is reported perturbed by Northern Ireland's stipulation that neither the border separating Ulster from the Irish Republic nor the North's constitution will be discussed at the talks.

When Lynch accepted Britain's offer of a tripartite meeting Saturday he specified the talks would have no pre-conditions.

But Ulster Prime Minister Brian Faulkner made his position clear Sunday when he said that Northern Ireland will not be coerced and its constitution is not for sale.

It was being predicted in Dublin that there will be some official complaint this week about the Northern Ireland government's stand.

DISCOUNT REPORTS
But reports from Dublin that Lynch may change his mind were being officially discounted in London as pure speculation. No date has been fixed for the talks but they are expected to take place shortly before a two-day British parliamentary debate on the Northern Ireland crisis Sept. 22.

In Dublin, Ritchie Ryan, foreign affairs spokesman for the republic's principal opposition party, Fine Gael, said that arguing over the particular wording of the invitation at this stage is pathetic and could well be tragic.

He said the initiative could not be taken out of extremists' hands unless the talks take place.

Condemnation for extremist activities in Northern Ireland, aimed at achieving a united Ireland by force, came Sunday from Cardinal Conway, primate of all Ireland, and five Roman Catholic bishops.

SAY REFORMS NEEDED

They said the problems of the Protestant-ruled community will never be solved until radical reforms of Ulster's democratic institutions are introduced.

The extremist campaign, they said, has killed and maimed innocent people and brought shame and disgrace on noble and just causes.

No one in their senses would want to bomb a million Protestants into a united Ireland, they said.

U.S. Urges Interpol To Oppose Trend To Legalization Of Pot

OTTAWA (CP) — The United States, maintaining that cannabis drugs are harmful, has urged Interpol members to resist any pressure to make marijuana or hashish legal.

Such pressure exists in several of Interpol's 111 member countries, notably Canada, where a youth committee appointed by State Secretary Gerard Pelletier has recommended that marijuana be made legal.

A 20-member U.S. delegation to the International Criminal Police Organization (Interpol), including James J. Rowley, director of the U.S. Secret Service, led the debate against cannabis.

Mr. K Buried

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Former Soviet leader Nikita Khrushchev was buried today in a simple private funeral under an autumn drizzle.

The tough, flamboyant leader who ruled 230 million people for more than a decade, was buried in the farthest corner from the entrance of Moscow's Novodevichy cemetery as a brass band played the Soviet national anthem.

About 200 Russians joined the dead leader's wife and family to pay their last homage at the graveside. The current Soviet leaders were not represented but sent a big wreath of chrysanthemums and lilies.

As the red-draped coffin was lowered into the ground Khrushchev's widow, Nina Petrovna, broke into tears. She had stood smiling sadly at the graveside as mourners filed past the open coffin which had an umbrella held over it against the drizzle.

Then, as the coffin was closed and lowered, the tears came.

SCOOP STRETCHER SAFER

New 'scoop' stretcher minimizes the danger of patient removal injuries as demonstrated by Kelowna Fire Department ambulance staff, Dennis Kranavetter, left, and Mickey Wentworth, right, with the aid of simulated patient, William Horkoff, centre. The refinement is part of modern equipment for the department's new $23,000 ambulance which was acquired in the latter part of August. The 487-horsepower Cadillac ambulance has a capacity for four stretcher cases, driver, attendant and an additional passenger, and carries five stretchers plus fracture boards, a 220 cubic inch Medox unit with provision for three oxygen tanks, an aspirator and first aid kit. Since Aug. 31, the emergency unit of the department has handled 62 ambulance calls, 16 of which have been accidents in the city and district area.

ECM Studies $'s Role

BRUSSELS (AP) — The six Common Market finance ministers met today, voicing determination and some optimism about reaching agreement on a plan to reshape the world monetary system in such a way that the United States dollar would ultimately lose its leading role.

Finance Minister Karl Schiller of West Germany was the last to arrive and told reporters only that he expected useful exchange at the meeting.

A few minutes earlier, Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing of France arrived and said:

"I have the feeling there is an important narrowing of the gap between the German and French positions regarding the monetary situation."

A key to the success or failure of the meeting appeared to be the Common Market Commission's long-range plan for reorganizing the world monetary system.

Accidents Claim 13 Lives During Weekend In B.C.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 13 persons died accidentally in British Columbia during the weekend, including four men in a plane crash while flying to a hunting camp in the coastal Chilko Lake area.

A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday also showed six dead in traffic accidents, two in drownings and one by suffocation.

Trans Mountain Air Services Ltd. of Campbell River, on Vancouver Island, identified three of the dead from the plane crash as pilot Mark Davies, C. Smith and A. Hudock, all of Campbell River.

Name of the fourth man was withheld.

The drownings involved an unidentified three-year-old Seelicht girl who fell from a wharf Sunday night near the coastal community 30 miles northwest of Vancouver, and Timothy Reynolds, 2, who drowned Saturday in the Cowichan River near Duncan on Vancouver Island.

Three-month-old David Lorne Plester died Saturday when he choked on vomit. His parents had left him in a car at a supermarket in Duncan while they shopped.

Two motorcyclists, Robert James Monahan, 20, and Thomas Robin Anderson, 19, both of Enderby, B.C., were killed Saturday when their bike collided with a freight train at a level crossing near Armstrong, in the North Okanagan.

Hitchhiker Rodney Annis, 23, of Chilliwack, was killed Saturday near the Fraser Valley community of Bridal Falls when struck by a car during a heavy rain.

On Sunday, Ronald Dale Dargatz, 23, of Creston, died when his car left the road five miles north of the southeastern B.C. community, knocked over two

Attica Rebellion Crushed With Guns, Tear Gas, Copters

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Twenty-eight convicts and nine hostages were killed today as state police, backed by helicopters dropping tear gas, stormed Attica state prison and put down a four-day rebellion.

"There is some question now whether the prison is now entirely secured," a spokesman for the state correction department said more than four hours after the assault on the prison.

"Several of the hostages had their throats slashed," he said. The remaining 29 hostages were brought out alive, but four were seriously injured.

In New York, a spokesman for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said several of the hostages had been dead for several hours before state police moved into the prison in force shortly after 9 a.m., the deadline in an ultimatum issued to the prisoners.

The governor's office said Rockefeller "completely supported" the decision to storm the prison.

A guard, who was reported thrown by prisoners from a second-storey window during the rebellion Thursday died Saturday night of head injuries.

State Corrections Commissioner Russell G. Oswald had agreed to 28 of the prisoners' demands but rejected two others—amnesty and the ouster of state prison Supt. Vincent R. Mancusi.

Oswald, in constant telephone contact with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, ordered the full-scale assault on the prison shortly after 9 a.m., after the prisoners ignored the ultimatum Oswald had issued. He said they "callously herded eight hostages within our view with weapons at their throats."

Decision Made Reluctantly

The situation had deteriorated Sunday night, he said, with prisoners fashioning weapons, making booby traps, setting up electrically-charged barricades and spreading gasoline.

The decision to attack was made with "extreme reluctance," Oswald said.

"It became apparent to me that further delays would jeopardize the lives of hostages and would threaten the prison system of the state."

As several hundred state police with rifles and shotguns poured into the prison in western New York state, two state National Guard helicopters flew overhead dropping tear gas into the exercise yard. Guard soldiers had been assembled in secret outside the prison but did not take part in the first assault.

Reporters standing outside heard shots from inside the prison and saw clouds of tear gas pouring over the walls.

One helicopter landed outside the walls, but the other continued to circle over the prison, broadcasting over a loudspeaker to the prisoners: "Face your hands over your heads and surrender to the nearest police officer. You will not be harmed."

National Guard troops, wearing gas masks and carrying rifles, rolled up outside the prison in at least 70 vehicles.

Although the first assault was staged by state police, some national guardsmen did enter the prison.

Reporters saw the rescued hostages come out the prison gate. One was clasped in a tearful embrace by his mother.

When reporters tried to question him, bystanders shouted: "Leave them alone! Leave them alone!"

Rockefeller Refuses Amnesty

During the negotiations, such outsiders as Black Panther party leader Bobby Seale, lawyer William Kunstler, and U.S. Representative Herman Badillo (Dem. N.Y.) were brought to the talks at the prisoners' request.

Rockefeller rejected their demand that he go to the prison. He also refused amnesty to the prisoners, saying he could not grant it legally and would not if he could.

The governor stood by at his office in New York City, postponing a scheduled flight to Puerto Rico for a U.S. governors' conference.

Kunstler accused Rockefeller of having ordered the assault, and called it a "monstrous act."

The radical lawyer said the prisoners would have given up their demand for the removal of Supt. Mancusi if they had been granted amnesty.

Kunstler said the Black Panthers had arranged sanctuary for any prisoners who were released in four countries, including North Korea and the Republic of the Congo.

At one point, the prisoners had demanded asylum in "non-imperialist" countries, but during the negotiations Kunstler said they were not pressing that demand.

One of the dead was identified by officials as a guard, Carl Valone. They said he died of a gunshot wound.

Britain Asked To Use 'Pull' To Bring Peace In Mid-East

CAIRO (Reuters) — Egypt asked Britain today to use its influence with the United States and its prospective partners in the European Common Market to change Israel's attitude on a Middle East peace settlement.

Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad also asked Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home to use direct contacts with Israel as a means of making progress, informed sources said.

Sir Alec was understood to have informed the Egyptians that Britain feels a permanent settlement of the crisis is in Israel's own best interest. But Israel feels a vital need for security, which Britain appreciates, he said.

The 2½-hour talks were the first in a series of discussions between Sir Alec and Egyptian leaders aimed at facilitating a settlement between Egypt and Israel.

Trudeau Hears Some Tough Talk -And Offers Some Hard Truths

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister heard some tough talk, and dispensed some hard truths of his own, on his two-day tour of Eastern Ontario that ended Saturday.

Most of the complaints heard on the trip through centres dwelt on the country's economic ills—continued inflation and unemployment and the plight of the poor and the old.

But Mr. Trudeau responded that the government is choosing the best courses available, noting it could not satisfy all the people all the time.

That message was made for high school students in Pickering, manpower trainees and a press conference in Peterborough, town meetings in Port Hope and Cornwall and radio hot-line show in Belleville.

Encounters at a Liberal party reception in Oshawa Friday and the county fair at Picton Saturday were less disputatious. Some of the toughest talk came at the last stop of the tour, the town meeting in Cornwall.

MAYOR CRITICAL Mayor Nick Kaneb accused the government of pursuing anti-inflation policies that had led to unacceptable levels of unemployment, without eradicating inflation itself.

Cornwall, with unemployment running about 20 per cent, had been especially hit by speeded-up tariff reductions that were squeezing out the products of the city's textile and chemical industries.

Mr. Trudeau agreed unemployment was high—especially in Cornwall—but noted that Canada had the lowest inflation rate of the western world.

Regional incentives were helping slow-growth regions, however. And the new textile policy—including temporary tariffs to allow firms to improve their plants—would aid Cornwall.

A broader range of tariffs would endanger the free trade that helped Canada export a

Students Wondering If Their Learning Is Relevant

DONALD ANDERSON Now that students have filed back into the halls and classrooms of Kelowna institutions, the focus of public attention has once more fallen onto a controversial theme... education. Discussion with several students at Dr. Knox Secondary School showed general opinion from a lot of grade 12 young people there are things wrong with the educational system, but young people have no choice but to subscribe to the system to succeed. Donald Anderson, 17, said education after grade nine is almost totally unusable to some individuals. "If you're in there because you want to learn everything you're fine, but if you're not it's totally useless," he said. "Geometric theorems and algebra are useless unless you want to be in that science." Mr. Anderson hopes to go to university and take arts whereupon he will travel a little and teach. Brenda Peterka, 16, also wants to teach and she said the reason for being in school had more of a financial base. Wendy Wujcik, 17, "doesn't want to be in school another five years." Instead she will finish her grade 12 and then train to be a lab technician. "A lot of people shouldn't have to take math and sciences if they don't want to. There are a lot of subjects that are not what you want to learn." Melanie Hall, 17, said high schools were just storehouses for manpower, explaining that in this way they kept students off the labor market. "In Germany, every student that graduates has a job waiting for him. I'm not going to speak to people on a fantastic plane, but I'll go to university. You need education." Noelle Ponich, 16, suspected that people with different degrees of education had difficulty communicating. "There's a difference in communication even between grades." Certain that education will help her in whatever she does, her future plans consist only of a desire "to get more educated in school." Ian Paine, 19, is interested in mechanics, but because he feels that mechanics is not a financially secure occupation, he will probably take it in university and then teach it. "You should be able to be an apprentice," he said. "You shouldn't be on a passing and failing basis and there should be something to keep your interest. You shouldn't have to go after Grade 9 if you don't really need to or want to." Mark Fabri, 17, was probably the most content student involved. Mark will carry on in the arts and humanities into university and then will become a teacher and travel. "Society demands that we go to school. It's always been that way," he said. "I think it should stay that way. I'm taking all the courses I want and need." Catharine Joughin, 16, wants to take a course so she can work, perhaps in drafting, and then she will be able to travel as well. "You have to start out with a job," she said, "and you need an education for any job you do. Education is necessary. I disagree, however, with university for myself." Duane Hamm, 16, said, "school's okay if you like it." Although he thought there were some changes needed in the system, he felt that the changes should come from within the system. "You have to be in it, to change it," he said. Duane will go to university and study engineering and then he will practice what he preaches, as a teacher within the educational system. Norman Meek, 16, felt that schools weren't vocation-oriented enough. "When you leave you're not educated enough to do anything," he said. "There should be specialization before university. The grade structure is too tight." Norman will study computing and engineering at university after he graduates.

STRAIGHTENING GLENMORE Provincial highways department equipment is currently busy in the Glenmore Road area with various road widening and straightening projects. The above work involves straightening a curve on Glenmore Road just north of the city's landfill operation. Crews are also conducting road widening operations on Glenmore to Dallas Road as part of that region's road improvement program. (Courier Photo)

Winfield Hosts IOF In Pentiction Affair

Some 560 delegates from British Columbia, Alberta, Oregon and Washington jammed into Pentiction Peach Bowl in a two-day brotherhood of informal fun and comradeship during the weekend. The annual Pacific Northwest District 20th International Visit of the Independent Order of Foresters wound-up its gala festivities Saturday with a high-heeled dinner and dance program, highlighted by a coronation exchange of flags by the High Chief Rangers of British Columbia and the state of Washington. This is the first time the event has ever been held in the Interior, an accomplishment lauded by head table guest, Oregon High Chief Ranger Clair Whatchell, who said the sponsoring IOF courts of Winfield and Pentiction would "get more honor" as hosts of the function than any of the "larger courts." The informal tenor of the evening was set by master of ceremonies, Sigh Kobayashi of the Winfield court, who humorously broke tradition by ignoring head table dignitaries and introducing himself. In his welcome to delegates, Mr. Kobayashi paralleled the occasion with the Centennial anniversary of the province's entry into confederation, and attributed the presence of "so many families" to either the "lethargy" or the popularity of the organization. Describing the numerous attendance of past chief rangers as a "very alarming take-over of internal forces," Mr. Kobayashi welcomed new members with the assurance that past chief rangers were "nothing but rangers with a past." Also in a bantering mood, Pentiction Mayor Douglas Stuart commended the IOF and said he did not know of any other two nations which could sing their national anthems "in friendship together." Other head table guests included Winfield court representatives, High Chief Rangers Arthur Deeter and Oscar Deak; Pentiction court guest speaker Archie Jack; Alberta court High Chief Ranger Roy Hill, representing Dean Low; British Columbia High Chief Ranger Robin Justice and Washington High Chief Ranger William Wedberg. Other Winfield court representatives included High Councilman Fred Sled; vice-chief ranger Edward Aschenbrenner; secretary Mrs. Edward Galigan and orator Mrs. Joseph Manuvario. One hundred and ninety-six delegates from the province attended the event, including 60 from Winfield and 104 from Pentiction courts, with the Alberta court sending 28 representatives for the first time. Washington and Oregon had 130 and 36 delegates respectively. Lack of adequate convention facilities in the city forced the Winfield court, composed mostly of Kelowna members, to hold the event at Pentiction. Funeral Tuesday For John McPhee Funeral services will be held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. for John McPhee, 71, of 604 Francis St., who died Saturday. Surviving Mr. McPhee are his wife, Gladys, 69, son, Donald, from Winfield and 104 from Vancouver, one daughter, Susan, of Vancouver, and three grandchildren. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Paul Robinson, with cremation to follow. Donations could be made to the Shriners Crippled Children's Fund. Mrs. Lily Curley Services Today Funeral services were held from St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church today at 2 p.m. for Mrs. Lily Elizabeth Curley, 85, of 825 Matt Rd., Rutland, who died Saturday. Surviving Mrs. Curley are one son, Thomas, of Bradner, B.C.; one daughter, Mrs. Douglas (Kathleen) Foster of Swift Current, Saskatchewan, six grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren. She was predeceased by one son, John, in 1928. Funeral services were conducted by Canon R. W. S. Brown with cremation following. Day's Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. CANADA'S HIGH-LOW Edmonton 77 Fort Nelson, B.C. 32

SEEN and HEARD

For those who were wondering, the termination of daylight saving time isn't until Oct. 31 at 2 a.m. Studio preparation for Kelowna's new radio station, CKIQ, will start this week. According to a spokesman for Four Seasons Radio, the station will house its studios in a 6,000 square-foot building on Highway 97, opposite Mountain Shadows Golf Course. Only a portion of the main floor will be used for the studios. Meanwhile, construction of three buildings at the transmitter site at Casorso Road and Benvoulin started last week. Members of the Kelowna and District Jaycees returned from a two-day weekend seminar at Sorrento, 50 miles east of Kamloops. More than 100 Jaycees from the province and the Yukon were represented at the seminar held at the Sorrento Centre for Human Development. Attendance from the city included president Craig Baker, vice-president David Ruhr, directors Dennis Gaudreau and David McCourt, and members Allan Claus, Donald Simmons, Wayne Schaad, Robert Bain, William McKinney, David Beasley and Ronald Gregory. The moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Rev. Dr. Murdoch Nicholson of Calgary, will speak at 8 p.m. tonight in St. David's Presbyterian Church, Sutherland Avenue. Two hitchhikers were waiting beside the road with signs posted. One said "Vancouver," the other "harmless." "Danger," said the hastily-scrawled sign on the back of the small truck on Highway 97. Fearing the vehicle carried explosives, the following driver held well back. Then his eyes beheld the reason for the warning. "Just married," read another sign. Ignatius Wallis Burial Tuesday Requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Pius X Roman Catholic Church Tuesday at 10 a.m. for Ignatius Frank Wallis, 82, of Kelowna who died Thursday. Born at Odessa, Russia, Mr. Wallis came to Canada in 1914. He joined the army in Calgary and served with the forces until 1919. Following World War I, he moved to Medicine Hat, Alberta, and in 1920 he moved to Regina where he resided until 1967 when he retired to Kelowna. He is survived by his wife, Doris, of Kelowna; three sons, Francis and Jack of California, and Rev. Father George Wallis of Southey, Sask.; one daughter, Mrs. S. (Frances) Foreman of Delta; two sisters, Mrs. Kathleen Besplug and Elizabeth Wallis, both of Windsor, Ont.; 11 grandchildren and five great grandchildren. He was predeceased by one son, William, in 1971. Prayers will be recited at the Garden Chapel at 8:00 p.m. today. Mass will be conducted by Rev. Father C. P. Mulvihill with interment in the Kelowna Cemetery.

Busy Days At Firehall

The Kelowna Fire Department had a busy weekend with five calls and two accidents. Firemen Saturday checked a chimney fire on Roanoke Avenue at 12:27 p.m., and answered a burning complaint at 2:55 p.m. at 2450 Pandosy St. Sunday began with one false alarm at 2:05 a.m. at Abbott Street and Cadder Avenue, and firemen returned to check a brush fire on Knox Mountain at 4:25 p.m. They were summoned again to 848 Sutherland Ave., at 6:10 p.m. where a boy was locked in a room. The emergency unit of the department handled two early morning accidents. One person was taken to hospital following a mishap at Saurier Avenue and Spier Street at 11:07 a.m. Saturday, and another patient was taken for medical treatment after an accident on Highway 97 north at 12:40 a.m. Sunday. There were five routine ambulance calls.

Petition Presented To Aldermen Today

CITY PAGE Alderman Expected To Press For Early Vote If Required

STUDENT-BUILT Summer Cottage Still Not Sold School District 23 (Kelowna) is still having trouble unloading a high school student-built summer cottage. The most promising offer, a buyer from Santa Barbara, Calif., who tendered a flat $4,090 for the house, fizzled out when board secretary-treasurer, Fred Macklin, wired acceptance. Reporting to the regular meeting of the board Thursday, Mr. Macklin said a reply to his telegram indicated the American would be purchaser could only raise $3,200. The board wants a minimum of $3,900 for the summer dwelling built by Kelowna Secondary School carpentry students using $3,500 worth of materials. The sum does not include labor costs. The board previously turned down four bids of $1,050, $2,758, $2,160 and $2,500 for the cottage as being too low. Although admitting the board wanted to "get rid" of the beach house, Mr. Macklin suggested a waiting game since there were a few local buyers interested in the dwelling. D. A. K. Fulkis wondered if the cottage could be purchased by a school trustee under the School Act. "As long as he pays the going price," Mr. Macklin confirmed, and suggested the house be offered to "selective" buyers since the board had done all it could at public bidding. Mr. Fulkis then wanted to know if the board's previous motion of a reserve bid of $3,900 prevented acceptance of a lower bid, and was informed by Mr. Macklin the cottage "cost more than that" to build, adding it was against board policy to sell the home at a lower price. Chairman J. W. Maddock, suggested the matter be left in abeyance for the time being. A report on a petition to have a vote about taking Orchard Park into the city will be presented to council tonight, said assistant city clerk Bob Wilson. Earlier council voted unanimously to ask the provincial government to extend the city boundary to include the shopping centre on Highway 97. But former alderman E. R. Winter has collected signatures on a petition urging that citizens be allowed to vote on the matter. "They must begin using city facilities or construct their own sewage disposal plant," the alderman said. Sewage from the centre is now trucked by Okanagan Septic Services. John McLernon of Vancouver, Marathon assistant general manager, said the trucking is done in conformity with health rules. He said the centre has mainly liquid sewage. The centre could put in an alternate system, but this would reduce the amount of money available to pay the city for use of sewage treatment facilities. "We do not want to wait until December," Mr. McLernon added. known if there are enough valid signatures. "Let's get on with it," he urged. "Let's get it settled now. There is a potential health hazard that must be settled now." Terms negotiated between the city, Marathon Realty and Canada Safeway, who developed the centre, call for payment towards use of city sewage disposal facilities if the centre is brought into the city. "You have to be in it, to change it," he said.

Seven Injured During Weekend

Seven people were taken to Kelowna General Hospital following weekend accidents. Allan Stone, Kathy McFadden, Carol Prytula and Tom Wolf, all of Kelowna, were injured in an accident early Saturday morning on Clifton Road involving a vehicle reported driven by John Swayze, also of Kelowna. Damage estimate was $1,900. Two people were taken to hospital following a collision Saturday night at Spier and Saurier Roads. Vehicles involved were reported driven by Mark Howard Zimmer and Dean Dean Koenig, both of Kelowna. Damage was about $300. One person was taken to hospital following an accident Saturday afternoon at Highway 97 and Barlee Road. Involved was a vehicle reported driven by John DePew of Rimby, Alta. Damage was estimated at $1,200. Two Rutland drivers were reported in collision on Highway 33 at Dundas Road. They were Walter Warner and Elmer Gross. Damage estimate was $600. A trailer reported driven by Blaine Nueweller of Oliver was in collision with a lamp standard at Ritchey Street and Harvey Avenue. The trailer received no damage, but damage to the standard was said to be more than $200. Richard Gottselig of Rutland and William Bremner of Kelowna were identified as drivers in collision on Highway 97 North. About $270 damage resulted. Charlie Smith of Kelowna and Phyllis Grant of Portland were identified as being operators of vehicles in collision on Highway 97 at Glenmore Street. There was about $360 damage. Aldeen Bassingthwaite of Kelowna and David J. Wyatt of Stoughton, Sask., were identified as drivers in collision at Lawrence Avenue and Pandosy Street. Damage was about $200. A vehicle reported driven by Carl W. Smith of Nelson was in collision with a parked vehicle owned by Fred Partaczek on Leon Avenue. Damage was about $200. A dune buggy owned by Brian McNeil of Rutland was destroyed when it caught fire Saturday night on a hill. Lightbulbs On Today The annual Lions Club light bulb campaign begins for a full week starting today, with Kelowna and Westbank drivers each due to Wednesday and Thursday. Being held jointly by four clubs in city and district, the Rutland Lions Club canvass will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, while the Winfield club drive extends the whole week. Funds raised by the four campaigns will be used to further various Lions club projects throughout the year. Residents are asked to leave porch lights burning during the period of each respective drive.

KLT Has Some Plum Roles Open For Thousand Clowns

The Kelowna Little Theatre still has a few "plum" roles to fill in its forthcoming production, A Thousand Clowns. Try-outs for the role of a non-conformist uncle in the humor play will be held tonight and Tuesday at the old Bijou theatre at 7:30 p.m., and several other casting spots are also open to budding amateur thespians. A teenage boy is needed for the part of a nephew, described by KLT as a "grand opportunity for a boy to get experience." The group is also on the lookout for stagehands and sound equipment handlers, as well as set construction, costuming, lighting and programs. The production, directed by Mrs. Lucinda Buchanan, revolves around a bachelor uncle and his precocious nephew. The uncle's non-conforming methods attract the attention of a female social worker and the hilarious plot is developed from there. The play was rated by the New York Daily News as "merely the best comedy of the season; a fine and funny evening." The performance will involve actors and production staff from the KLT.

... Sunny

Sunny skies will continue to prevail Tuesday with some cloudy periods in areas. High and low in the city Sunday was 74 and 51 with no precipitation. High and low at the airport Sunday was 74 and 48, again with no precipitation. The high expected today was 72 degrees with an overnight low of 48. The high Tuesday will be 72 degrees.

Guess Who Pays The Piper

Last month the report of the Committee on Youth, a federal government appointment, was made public. It received a great deal of publicity, most of which was directed to one recommendation of the committee, the legislation of marijuana. However, the report said much more than is interesting, especially as the report itself seemed to carry undertones of blackmail and threats that "serious and widespread conflict will inevitably occur" if the report's recommendations are not implemented.

The committee would increase substantially the maximum loans available to students and remove, or at least modify, the requirements for parental contributions and for the individual students to make savings from summer employment.

It would stop calling welfare welfare when it is collected by youths and increase the size of the benefits. It would increase funds available to the Canada Council and require the Council to "provide increased support to the experimental and innovative areas of artistic expression including 'pop culture'." It would have the federal government finance such "alternative employment opportunities" as Pollution Prob, rural communes, co-operative farming projects and handicraft shops. It would subsidize a program to enable high school students to work for two years in the private sector of the economy, moving from job to job to determine what they preferred.

The report recommends the establishment of a hostel program throughout Canada, with food and medicine or other services provided—presumably for free, of course. It would provide a study-trip service, in Canada and abroad, in which groups no larger than 15 would study projects in other areas, participants paying no more than 40 per cent of their travelling expenses or $100, whichever is the less, and the government picking up the tab for the remainder. It would provide similar trips for individuals, with the youth paying no more than $25 or 40 per cent of his costs.

Among many other recommendations there is one which the report calls P2, an organization to use government funds to support all manner of projects initiated at the local level. The committee is very bullish on this one. Of it the committee says: "The government must facilitate societal choice. It must provide resources—of whatever quantity or quality is necessary—which will give persons the freedom to choose at every level their own course of action. The committee cannot emphasize too strongly this first principle of programming for youth." The youth of whom it speaks are those between 15 and 24 years.

The committee gives priority to the wants and desires of this group, though the wants of other age groups, had they been investigated, would in many respects be not dissimilar. Who among us would not welcome "cheap travel and the freedom to work at the work of our choice or not work at all, and still have our needs met?"

The committee's reasons for giving youth this costly priority are that unemployment is higher among youth—a disability suffered by age when it was young—and that youth will be dangerous if its demands are not met. The report itself, being government commissioned, may in fact have increased youth's capacity for violence by raising hopes that cannot be gratified.

For instance, the committee's blueprint for P2 has as its key community assemblies, which any citizen may attend, that will originate projects to be financed by government. A sort of modern townhall meeting. The maximum number of assemblies in a province would be 10.

In British Columbia we would have to build town halls capable of accommodating 250,000 people each. In this area we would have to build one which would accommodate the whole population of the Okanagan and Kootenays.

Strengthening Indian Voice

(Victoria Times)

It should be a matter of general satisfaction in this part of the world that Randy Bouchard, a career researcher of Indian languages, is meeting a substantial measure of success in helping British Columbia Indians to restore their ancient tongues and the legends which are their cultural background.

This is by no means the first attempt to preserve the spoken word of our "first citizens." It seems, however, to be one of the most effective efforts yet made to work out a system of communication, with broad Indian support, which will not only keep on record the stories of Indian peoples and safeguard their languages, but also generally strengthen the movement to preserve a culture too long on the wane.

A growing number of Canadians are becoming familiar with the work of artist-writer George Clutesi, whose achievements in recapturing the spirit of his people are winning national recognition.

At a very late date consciousness of the contribution the Indians can make to the Canadian theme is now spreading in a way to counteract the childish "cowboys and Indians" concept produced in pulp magazines, some television programs and a number of moving pictures. The voice of the Indian is soft, but its carrying power is growing through the work of such men as Mr. Bouchard and his Indian friends.

Those Four-Letter Words

The wearisome use of a few four letter words by people with vacuous minds and vulgar vocabularies has brought many protests since this form of verbalization spread from the street to the stage and even the television set.

The latest rebuke to these morons has come from Professor F. C. Frank, a Fellow of the Royal Society, in a letter to The Times of London written entirely in words of four letters or fewer. Here it is:

Sir: What, pray, does each lazy fool mean with that over-worn term? Does that fool find "home," "life," "duty," "love," "care," "pure," "sure," "true," "open," "free," "bail," "game," "race," "goal," "howl," "swim," "dive," "high jump," "long jump," "peak," "rock," "sail," "wind," "wave," "fine," "warm," "rain," "hail," "snow," just foul, evil dirt? Else, what avid urge must drive that man's mind on to that very tiny smut-worn lip? From this sort only, what same chap will find with real ease many more than five?

And so say most of us.

Churchill Falls Job A Beginning If You See In Same Way As Joey

CHURCHILL FALLS, Nfld. (CP) — The way Premier Joseph Smallwood sees it, the $550 million Churchill Falls hydroelectric development, largest of its kind in the Western world, is only a beginning.

In interviews and speeches during a summer visit to this central Labrador area 650 miles northwest of St. John's, Nfld., he emphasized his belief that a uranium enrichment plant costing close to $1 billion would be built at Churchill Falls.

Mr. Smallwood also said he was certain the potential of nearly four million horsepower of the Lower Churchill would be developed by British Newfoundland Corp. at a cost of between $500 and $600 million.

Brinco is the majority shareholder of Churchill Falls (Labrador) Corp., which is building the 7,004,000 horsepower development here.

W. D. Mulholland, Brinco president, who met with the premier during the visit, reported the project on schedule with delivery of the first commercial power from the first two of 11 generators next May. Completion is scheduled for 1976.

The two also toured the 972-foot power house carved from solid rock 984 feet underground.

B.C. Will Plug Litter Loophole

VICTORIA (CP) — Recreation Minister Ken Kiernan announced here the British Columbia Litter Act will be amended during the 1972 legislative session to provide penalties for retail stores which refuse to refund soft drink containers.

Mr. Kiernan said retailers should get in line with the intent of the act and start refunding containers immediately.

The announcement followed a recent dismissal of charges in Victoria provincial court against a Canada Safeway Ltd. store which refused to give refunds. The Litter Act requires retailers to refund two cents on each returned container of brands they sell.

Some B.C. supermarkets have refused to give refunds at the store. Instead, they have referred customers to exchange depots.

Mr. Kiernan said he reviewed the decision of Judge William Ostler and consulted with staff in the Attorney-General's department. He said the court found the act's intent clear but found it lacking in specific penalty for refusing to make refunds.

"I will recommend to the legislative assembly that this legal loophole be plugged to give the act its full legal weight," he said.

"And I would suggest to the industry, including the chain stores, that they either get in line with the intent of the act or stop merchandising these products."

Mr. Kiernan also said regulations under the act may be changed to allow a person to return up to 24 cans or bottles per day instead of 18 as stipulated under existing legislation.

Y Virus May Mean Death For Scourge Of Forests

By KEN KELLY
Canadian Press Science Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Centuries-long forest depredation by the spruce budworm may be ended by Y virus.

Canadian forestry service scientists, excited about this new biological weapon, have passed some laboratory testing procedures in favor of field trials this summer.

The virus makes monsters of budworm larvae and cripples their reproductive powers.

In another eight months, scientists will know whether they have planted a biological budworm killer capable of acting as a natural check on this costliest destroyer of forest resources.

If they have, they feel confident of heading off the next big resurgence of budworm attacks, now at a high point in vulnerable stands of balsam fir, white spruce and red spruce over more than 20 million acres from British Columbia to the Atlantic.

One estimate of eastern Canada's loss from budworms since 1900 is 250 million tons of newsprint, the equivalent of $4 trillion at today's prices.

SPRAYING GOES ON

Chemical spraying, costing perhaps $25 million since 1952, will continue as a holding operation while scientists build an arsenal of weapons such as Y virus.

These include use of sex attractants, called pheromones, to lure budworm moths to their deaths or confuse them that they fail to mate. Chemicals may render the budworm unable to reproduce.

Another defence involves the epicentre concept—that is, keeping a close watch on budworm population to spot concentrations before they reach take-off point.

Besides ground counts of budworm population, this may mean using such sophisticated techniques as infra red scanners in aircraft or, perhaps, earth satellites. These take a kind of picture of infra red radiation. Damaged trees show different levels of radiation.

Y virus itself is merely the latest in a series of bacterial and viral weapons tested.

"Why were we so long in finding it? So they called it Y virus," explained W. A. Reeks of the name. He is program coordinator for entomology in the forestry service, now a key part of the federal department of the environment.

SEARCH SPURRED

The search for biological weapons has been spurred by growing reluctance by the public and scientists to continue relying on chemical weapons that sometimes are found to have undesirable side effects after long use.

One of the first was a bacteria, bacillus thuringiensis, tested in the New Brunswick budworm outbreak of 1960. It is still under study. But its killing power and cost ruled out its being an immediate replacement for chemicals.

Interest shifted to viruses, partly because they have been proved effective against pine-destroying sawflies and because some live in and attack only a particular species. This characteristic lessens the danger of the virus affecting other non-

N.B. Campaign Speeding Up

FREDERICTON (CP) — With about five weeks to go, the pace is quickening in the race for the New Brunswick Liberal leadership, relinquished last spring by former premier Louis J. Robichaud.

Five candidates are bidding for the post. They are Robert Higgins, 37, a Saint John barrister who held economic growth and municipal affairs portfolios under Mr. Robichaud; John Bryden, 33, a former deputy justice minister; Norbert Theriault, 50, former health and welfare and municipal affairs minister; H. H. Williamson, 55, who held both labor and economic growth portfolios under Robichaud; and Maurice Harquail, 32, deputy mayor of the North Shore city of Campbellton.

Liberals tend to rate Mr. Higgins and Mr. Bryden as top contenders for the post to be decided at a convention here Oct. 15-16.

Mr. Higgins, first to enter the race, has been criticised for the province in what he terms a "face-to-face" campaign to meet delegates.

When Mr. Bryden entered the race in June, he appeared at a news conference with 10 of the 20 Liberal members of the legislature, although he does not hold a seat in the house.

Mr. Theriault and Mr. Williamson are the most politically experienced men in the race, each with 11 years in the legislature.

Mr. Harquail, making his first bid for an office of any kind with the party, is rated least likely to win.

"As far as I'm concerned," said one party organizer, "he only adds 25 minutes to the convention."

More than 1,750 delegates will be eligible to vote at the convention. It will be the biggest political convention ever held in the province.

The largest previously was the 1969 Progressive Conservative leadership convention, won by Richard Hatfield who became premier last fall when he unseated the 10-year-old Robichaud administration.

It will be the first Liberal leadership convention since Mr. Robichaud was elected in 1958.

harmful forms of life and upsetting natural balances.

Two types were known to affect the eastern budworm. One is called nuclear polyhedrosis and destroys by attacking the nucleus of the budworm's cell structure.

The other is a cytoplasmic polyhedrosis which works on the protein parts of the cell outside the nucleus.

"If we could use one in the absence of the other, we would have a red hot biological type insecticide," said Mr. Reeks.

CONDUCT TRIALS

This year the scientists isolated the nuclear polyhedrosis and conducted field trials with it.

Almost simultaneously a windfall occurred with the discovery that a virus found in insect larvae in British Columbia could be transferred to the eastern budworm larvae. This is Y virus.

"The really astounding thing is that it causes the affected budworms to become monsters. They grow to twice normal size and their reproductive capacity is crippled."

They continue to feed in the spring on the tender new growth of fir and spruce, but the promise for budworm control lies in the virus effect on reproductive capacity, limiting the numbers in succeeding generations of budworms.

CANADA'S STORY

Plains Of Abraham Saw Vital Victory

By BOB BOWMAN

This is the anniversary of the battle of the Plains of Abraham in 1759 when Wolfe defeated Montcalm and paved the way for Canada to become a British colony rather than French, possession nearly four years later. The Plains of Abraham battle is considered to be one of the 16 most important in the history of the world, yet sometimes this anniversary slides by without recognition.

The story of the battle is so well-known that it needs no recounting here, but it is interesting to speculate what might have taken place if Wolfe had been defeated or if British policy had been different.

For instance, what would have happened if a real effort had been made to bring about closer relationships among Canada and the British colonies to the south? Could the American Revolutionary War 12 years later (after the Treaty of Paris) have been avoided? In this case, all of North America (except Mexico) would have become part of the British Commonwealth. More likely, perhaps, Canada would have become part of the United States.

What would have happened if Montcalm had defeated Wolfe? This probably would have been the case if Governor Vaudreuil had not interfered with Montcalm's defences. Would Britain have given up the campaign to capture Canada?

In those days, France controlled a large area as far south as the Gulf of Mexico. It might have been possible for the French to have driven the British out of North America altogether. If that had been the case, what would have happened to the development of many modern conveniences that are in general use because of American mass production methods?

The battle of the Plains of Abraham Sept. 13, 1759, was not only one of the most vital in the world from a military point of view, but other consequences have been even more important.

Other Sept. 13 events: 1710—Cadillac was appointed Governor of Louisiana.

1756—Montcalm held council with Indians at Ticonderoga.

1886—Canadian Pacific Telegraphs opened.

1893—Montreal Presbytery found Professor Campbell guilty of heresy.

1915—Second Canadian Division arrived in France.

Leading Civil Servants Discussed Workings Of Federal Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP) — Two of Canada's most influential civil servants discussed publicly last week the workings of the federal cabinet.

A common theme was how terribly hard Prime Minister Trudeau and his ministers work for the nation.

Marc Lalonde, principal secretary to Mr. Trudeau, and Gordon Robertson, secretary to the cabinet, presented papers to the annual meeting of the Institute of Public Administration of Canada in Regina.

Mr. Lalonde says Mr. Trudeau works a basic 42-hour week: About 11 hours on cabinet activities, 11 on the Commons and 20 on other tasks. Besides this were numerous hours of studying official documents and weekend travel outside Ottawa on official business.

Mr. Robertson says Mr. Trudeau's ministers have even more exhausting hours.

He says the ministers work an 11-hour day five days a week and a good part of each weekend.

TESTED TO LIMIT

"Ministers today have a load that tests the limits of physical and intellectual powers," Mr. Robertson said.

"Ministers are overwhelmed by the obligations, engagements and pressures that throng upon them."

Mr. Lalonde and Mr. Robertson disagree on one point concerning the prime minister's work schedule.

Mr. Lalonde says Mr. Trudeau is chairman of four cabinet committees: security and intelligence; public service; federal-provincial relations; and priorities and planning.

Mr. Robertson says Mr. Trudeau is chairman of only two cabinet committees: priorities and planning and federal-provincial relations. All other cabinet committees are chaired by other ministers, he says.

TACKLES CRITICS

Mr. Lalonde went to some pains to defend Mr. Trudeau against some recent criticisms.

Mr. Lalonde, 42, is Mr. Trudeau's chief of staff and personal political adviser.

FOR HONEYMOON

Matching Suits Worn By Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Arnold Wourms wore matching pant suits of dark brown, velvet jackets with striped pants for their honeymoon trip to northern British Columbia following their marriage on Sept. 4.

The bride, Janet Lynn Hush, was given in marriage by her father, William John Hush of Rutland in St. Theresa's Roman Catholic Church. Mauve gladioli and white daisies enhanced the altar for the 3 p.m. ceremony and white ribbons and mauve mums marked the pews.

Organist for the service conducted by Rev. F. L. Flynn, was Fred Mallach, a cousin of the bride, Rutland.

For her marriage Janet chose a gown of peau d'elephant with lace overlay. A Peter Pan collar topped the empire waisted bodice and the long full sleeves of matching lace were gathered into small cuffs. Velvet ribbons fell to the hemline from the front waist and a train attached at the waist completed her ensemble. A short three-tiered veil misted from a tulle headpiece and she carried a cascade bouquet of mauve carnations and button mums.

IDENTICAL GOWNS

Keeping the mauve theme the bride attendants, Linda Schell of Kelowna, maid-of-honor and Joanne Hush, the bride's sister of Rutland, were clad in identical gowns of mauve embroidered satin styled similar to the bride's. The long gathered sleeves were of sparkle organza in the same shade of mauve and dark mauve velvet bows accented the front. Matching velvet bows were worn as headresses.

Best man was John Kloppenburg and ushers were Herman Kornze, Kenneth Hush, the bride's brother and Stan Wourms, the groom's brother, all of Rutland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wourms of Kelowna.

For the reception in the Rutland Centennial hall Mrs. Hush received the guests wearing a polyester crepe dress in coral. A corsage of white carnations completed her ensemble.

The groom's mother chose a blue tulle crepe dress with corsage of pink carnations. Master of ceremonies, Clarence Mallach, was assisted by Ed Deutscher, both uncles of the bride. Stan Hush, another uncle, toasted the bride and John Kloppenburg proposed the toast to the bridesmaids. Herman Kornze made the toast to the mothers and a special toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Mr. Mallach.

ECRU LINEN

The bride's table was covered with an ecrú linen cut-work cloth belonging to her aunt Edna Deutscher. Silver candle candlesticks with mauve candles and floral arrangements of mauve and white gladioli and white daisies complimented the three-tiered wedding cake decorated by Mrs. C. Mallach. On a setting of pale mauve tulle the cake was white with mauve roses.

The bride's younger sister, Karen and her cousin, Peggy Mallach, were in charge of the guest book and gifts.

The bride accessorized her going away pant suit with brown shoes and purse and a corsage of mauve carnations and mums. The couple will make their home at Gallagher Road, RR 5, Kelowna.

Out-of-town guests were, the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Deutscher, Edna Deutscher, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bell and family, all of Medicine Hat; Mr. and Mrs. Ken May and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. Deutscher, all of Burnaby, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sigaty of Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Leander Wourms and family of Looma, Alta.; the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wourms, Edson, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hess and family, Prince George; Mr. and Mrs. Stan Hush and Gordon, Summerland; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kloppenburg, Armstrong; Mr. and Mrs. William Walrod, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. Don Carter, North Kamloops; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Engel and Robyn, Sherwood Park, Alta.; Dianne Bainbridge, Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Warren and family of Sherwood Park; Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Ujhazy, Surrey; Lucy Tedorstorst, Hancey; Mr. and Mrs. Rod Schneider, Kamloops; Mr. and Mrs. Herb Wourms, New Westminster; Russell Hush, Merritt; Mary Kloppenburg, Armstrong and Brian Wourms, New Westminster.

E. Lynn of Westview Apartments, Westbank has returned from Shaughnessy Hospital, Vancouver, where he has been a patient for the last six weeks.

Mrs. C. Ingram from Lethbridge, Alta., is holidaying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Reece in Westbank.

Charles Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cameron of Westbank, has left for Calgary where he will attend his first year at the Southern Institute of Technology.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Newton of Westbank and their son Brian have returned from a two-week holiday to Astoria and Portland. On their return they visited Victoria, Campbell River and Vancouver.

MUSEUM NOTES

Large Poster For A Play Proves Interesting Reading

By PRIMROSE UPTON

Recent acquisitions at the Kelowna Centennial Museum have been a large poster for a play under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Soames. The cartoon is of the cook, and the poster was done by H. J. R. Cullen in 1925. The entertainment was to be held at Wesley Hall Feb. 20 and 21, commencing at 8 p.m. The other donation is a book of photographs and clippings for the Orchard Players of British Columbia — based at Kelowna and Summerland, manager William Sauter. Started in 1912, this ambitious group operated for several years — taking their plays quite far afield. A schedule went like this: Kelowna April 14-15; Penticton 15; Summerland 16; Vernon 17; Enderby 12; Victoria 20-21; Nanaimo 22-23; Duncan 24-25; New Westminster 24-25; Vancouver 25-30-May 1; Bellingham 2-3; Chilliwack 4; Kamloops 5-6; Ashcroft 7; Revelstoke 8-9; Vernon 20; Kelowna 21; Summerland 25. Quite a killing schedule especially with travel pretty difficult in those days.

FROM CLIPPING

A clipping from the Kelowna Courier and Orchardist — has this to say "This is the first company of English actors and actresses to organize in British Columbia with the intention of touring the province in the winter and early spring and of spending the summers in fruit-growing."

There are clippings from the Vancouver Province about "David Garrick" and "The Truth." The heading is "Orchard Players Good", and the writup goes on to say, "Clyde Fitch's famous drama 'The Truth' was given a splendid delineation at the Avenue Theatre last night by the Orchard Players. The play is strong in heart interest, the plot being cleverly conceived and conveying a valuable object lesson."

The part of Becky Warder, the wife whose love of romance leads her to assume a role which threatens to ruin her married life, but who sees the folly of her course before it is too late, is admirably portrayed by Dora Rignold. The husband, a sterling character, who succeeds in retrieving his wife's affections by his earnest, dignified attitude, is given a fine interpretation by William Sauter. Probably the best piece of character acting in the play is that of A. L. Soames, the degenerate father of Becky. Mrs. Arthur Elwyn as Mrs. Lindon and L. R. Dunrobin as the villain, give capable presentations. "The Truth will be repeated to night and "David Garrick" will be staged tomorrow evening."

There are a number of other clippings from Vernon, Penticton, New Westminster, Nanaimo and Victoria — all praising the quality of the plays.

Two of the original programs give the names of the actors and actresses and the parts played by them. For "David Garrick" these people were stage manager Arthur Elwyn; assistant stage manager E. Tennyson-Collins; advance representatives H. F. LeQueune and G. G. Woods; business manager E. J. Gardner; scenic artist Edgar McKie; costumes William Clarkson, London, and Miss Birch, Kelowna; wigs by William Clarkson; photographs by G. H. E. Hudson, Kelowna.

Many of these same people did stage sets, costumes and props for some of the plays and light operas put on at later dates. Certainly the people involved with entertainment on the stage in Kelowna in the early days set an extremely high standard.

SOUNDS OF LOVE

The 14-string viola d'amore is played by the musician bowing seven of the strings and the other seven, located just underneath, vibrate in sympathy.

Shower Honors Trepanier Girl

PEACHLAND (Special) — The Peachland Recreation Hall was decorated with spring garlands recently when Gloria Cinnamon of Upper Trepanier was guest of honor at a community bridal shower. Gloria became the bride of Brian MacKinnon Sept. 3 at the Peachland United Church. Assisting the guest of honor to open the many gifts presented, was her mother, Mrs. Stuart Cinnamon, and the groom-to-be's sister, Mrs. Larry Teal of Kelowna and Marian Rice. Mrs. Joe Khlenbach fashioned the bride's hat from the many colorful ribbons and bows adorning the packages. This was presented to Gloria along with a corsage of beige chrysanthemums.

The attractive bride's cake which was made for the occasion and decorated with orange roses, carried the message 'best wishes to you both' and was displayed at a bride's table flanked by red carnations and yellow candles. Hostesses and servers were Mrs. J. K. Todd, Mrs. Joe Khlenbach, Mrs. Peter Bell, Pat Loney, Penny Walsh, Margaret Cinnamon, Sharon Hildebrandt and Johanna Manz.

PEOPLE'S FOOD MARKET

Fairhall-Lupton Wedding Features Apricot, White

Gladioli in mellow apricot and white were massed in St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church, Kelowna, for the September marriage of Stella Wendy Lupton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lupton of Lakeview Heights, to John Wesley Fairhall, son of A. W. Fairhall and the late Mrs. Fairhall of Vancouver.

The apricot and white color scheme was carried through in the ribbon bows and roses on the church guest pews and in the gowns of the wedding party.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father gowned in traditional white. Venice lace and satin marked the Victorian neckline of her imported satin striped organza gown. The fitted bodice came to a semi empire waistline above a demit bell skirt which reached into a chapel train.

She wore a Juliet cap of lily of the valley. Her bouquet was of white sweetheart roses, stephanotis and golden sunburst roses.

The bride's twin sister Shannon was maid-of-honor. Other attendants were Mrs. W. van den Eerenbeent, Mary Leathley and Debbie Walters of Victoria.

QUANTREL CREPE

Their full-length gowns in apricot quantrel crepe were fashioned with hoods and they carried colonial bouquets of golden sunburst roses to tone in with the all over color scheme.

David Eyford of Vancouver was best man. Ushering were Donald Macintosh, David Graham and Steven Wood, all of Vancouver.

Rev. Paul Robinson performed the wedding service. Soloist Ernie Burnett sang "Ave Maria" and "I Believe" during the signing of the register.

At the reception later at the Eldorado Arms, the bride's mother received in a deep apricot chiffon gown and corsage of golden sunburst roses with matching accessories. The groom's stepmother wore a jacket dress of green silk with corsage of golden sunburst roses.

Toast to the bride was given by L. G. Butler of East Kelowna and master of ceremonies was Dudley Pritchard.

The bride's tables, centred with a three-tiered cake flanked by silver candelabra and golden sunburst roses, was beautifully decorated by Mrs. R. P. McLean.

Jaycettes Hold First Meeting Of The Season

The Kelowna and District Jaycettes held their first general meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Dave Ruhr.

Mrs. Ernie Poitras introduced the guest speaker, Miss Jaycee, Sheila Schweigert, who spoke on the Jaycee organization which was her topic in the Lady of the Lake competition. Mrs. Don Burch thanked her for her very informative talk.

The meeting was attended by three prospective members and two wives of Jaycee transfers, Mrs. Don Simmons, Mrs. Ron Gregory and Mrs. Don Schaffer.

The Jaycee wives were Mrs. Rod Cousins from Montreal and Mrs. Al Claus from New Westminster.

Business arising out of the meeting approved investigation into the possibility of having a Jaycette cook book for sale as a ways and means project for the coming year.

Can You Cook Wild Game Or Wild Fowl?

How many cooks know how to cook wild game or wild fowl properly? Is there a special knack? Is it the preparations prior to cooking that make the difference? Are there special recipes that even a beginner can use to make a tasty dish. The Courier is seeking these specialists through its annual cook book issue and contest.

Wild game or fowl is the new category this year in Kelowna's favorite fall cuisine issue. Other categories remain the same as last year. Since the apple is king in the Okanagan, new ways of serving apples is one every homemaker appreciates. The deluge of tasty dishes using apples, from casseroles to salads and desserts submitted last year, made this section a delight. Many cooks have reported since they tested each and every one on their own families, and have added several favorites to the family menu.

Another Okanagan speciality was the best grape or cherry recipe. A new class last year which also proved popular was the best gourmet or foreign dish class. The Courier hopes this year that some of the town's best male cooks will get into this part of the contest. Ladies may also take part again, too.

The fifth class, which has also been a popular race in past contests is the one for the club submitting the most entries. The time to start this project is this week, since it is quantity that wins this prize. Again the Courier hopes that men's organizations will realize this is not an exclusive 'females only' contest.

The deadline for entry is Oct. 16. Watch the Courier for detailed rules for submission.

In lighter vein, Hartnell produced a white evening trouser suit strong on feathers and flesh. A fluffy doughnut hat topped an embroidered organza suit, trimmed with feathery fur and falling from a V-neck into a zig-zag hipline.

Also in the Eastern mood was a silver lame cocktail dress worn with a huge, tasseled coolie hat.

For the demure, Hartnell showed a romantic Victorian-style evening dress with hooped bustle in peacock blue taffeta and velvet.

Pre-School Society Meeting Discusses Program For 1971-72

The Second Kelowna Co-operative Pre-school Society met Sept. 8, in the First Baptist Church on Bernard Avenue, to discuss the 1971-72 pre-school program.

The mothers were welcomed by president Mrs. R. M. Wilson, who also introduced the teachers: Mrs. L. A. Taylor (three year olds), Mrs. D. R. McIntyre (four year olds) and Mrs. K. E. Chapman (five year olds).

The perils of mother's duty day were the highlights of a comical skit presented by Mrs. J. Tisdale, Mrs. D. Topf, Mrs. G. Clark and Mrs. R. Duplessis.

Later, over coffee, the members split into three groups to discuss the program for each age level with the respective teacher.

In order to introduce the three year olds to pre-school life with as little trauma as possible, Mrs. Taylor explained that they would attend a short session with half the class on Sept. 20 and 21, and one session only, with half the class, the following week. Then from Oct. 4 and 5 on, they would attend full sessions with all their classmates.

The 1971-72 executive are: President, Mrs. Robert Wilson; vice-president, Mrs. Dieter

Topf; secretary, Mrs. Garnet Clark and treasurer, Mrs. Robert Luttmerding.

HELP WANTED!

CUB, SCOUT, and VENTURER LEADERS

The pay is poor but the rewards and fringe benefits are great. No experience necessary, on the job training given. Cub, Scout and Venturer registration is now under way. Some groups have their committee formed and have sufficient leads and assistants. The outlook for some looks grim. In Kelowna as in other areas there will be a number of boys who will miss out on the pleasures and memories of belonging to the Boy Scout Movement. We are in great need of leaders for all sections. So come on parents or anyone interested in working with boys, be they male or female. Please give us a call. We also have openings for young adults as activity leaders with cub packs, ages from 14 to 16.

We will have a full training program again this year for new leaders. Age groups for the above are as follows: Cubs 8-10, Scouts 11-14, Venturers 15-17.

For further information on registrations in your areas, please listen to Radio Station CKOV on Club Calendar.

From the district staff we send our many thank yous for a job well done to those leaders and group committee members who will not be with us this year. We hope that you will not forget us and come back and join the Boy Scout Movement again. Without your great help we could not have carried on. So thanks again wherever you may be. Good luck and remember scouting. Also hats off to the leaders who have continued for another year. See you all in the near future. Welcome all new leaders. and will meet you soon.

Joe Kapp's Future Up To The Lawyers

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm a football player," said Joe Kapp, the wandering professional quarterback, "and Joe Kapp would like to be playing football."

"But Mr. Rozelle has stopped me. What am I supposed to do?"

The NFL has lawyers, Rozelle has lawyers and I have a lawyer."

And so, with the opening of the National Football League season just a week away, it appears Kapp will not be playing—a fact that could make the situation revolving around Kapp pro football's equivalent of the Curt Flood case.

For there is in Kapp's refusal to sign the NFL's standard player contract a striking similarity with Flood's suit aimed at the reserve clause provision of baseball's standard contract, a case which has reached the United States Supreme Court.

Kapp's refusal to sign the standard contract tendered by the NFL is a direct result of the fact that the NFL is not a union, and the NFL constitution, under the NFL constitution, no player can play without signing the required document.

It has left Kapp, who led Minnesota Twins in the Super Bowl with his charisma and so-called helium-filled passes in 1969, a non-playing member of the Patriots and an itinerant businessman travelling between California and Vancouver.

STARRED IN CANADA

Previous to joining Minnesota, Kapp played in the Canadian Football League with British Columbia Lions and Calgary Stampeders.

Virtually nothing has been heard from the 34-year-old Kapp since the day he left the Patriots' camp. But, reached by phone in Vancouver, Kapp said:

"I want to play football and I'm in my prime. But it doesn't look like it's going to happen. I have a contract and I played on it last year—that's that. That's all I care to comment on."

"I'm in the hands of Mr. Cook—he's looking after the football aspect of my life."

Mr. Cook is John Elliott Cook, a San Francisco lawyer who, during the war between the NFL and American Football League, negotiated a reported $500,000-plus contract for San Francisco 49ers quarterback John Brodie.

COULD BE CHALLENGE

There has been considerable speculation that Cook's plans, when revealed, will lead to a challenge of the establishment similar to the one Flood initiated against major league baseball in challenging the reserve clause.

What is known about the complicated situation is the following:

When Kapp joined the Patriots, after playing out his option with the Vikings, he signed a memorandum of agreement which settled the monetary terms with the club on a three-year contract.

Kapp was paid $100,000 under terms of that document last year and already has received $58,000 for this season, according to figures revealed by Theodore Kheel, labor mediator and the owners' representative in collective bargaining negotiations.

The assumption was made that Kapp's memorandum of agreement would be incorporated in the standard player contract, the usual practice, once certain tax provisions were accommodated and approved by the firm of Price Waterhouse, representing Kapp.

Price Waterhouse gave such approval just prior to the end of the NFL's regular season last December. Kapp still did not sign although continually prodded by the Patriots.

The only other reason that has surfaced, according to Kheel, for Kapp's refusal to sign was the possibility that he would sue the Vikings for libel and slander.

Since the Patriots ordered Kapp to leave training camp, the NFL owners' Player Relations Association has filed a grievance with the NFL Players' Association over his refusal to sign.

The grievance contends Kapp is violating the collective bargaining agreement which, according to Kheel, "states clearly . . . every player shall sign the standard player contract."

A further grievance may be filed, says Kheel, "to recover the payments ($58,000) for this season made in anticipation Kapp would sign, on the basis he has rendered himself incapable of playing football."

The players' association has responded that the Kapp case "is not a legitimate grievance" because Kapp is under contract—the memorandum of agreement—and played under it last year.

Asked why Kapp refused to sign the standard player contract, Cook is reported in Boston newspapers to have replied:

"There is no such thing as the standard player contract. If you went through Mr. Rozelle's contract files, you'd find these so-called standard player contracts qualified and modified in many ways."

From that has come speculation that Cook is preparing an assault on the establishment. One of those speculating is Billy Sullivan, the president of the Patriots.

"The crux of the situation," Sullivan says, "involves two different things."

"On the one hand, Joe Kapp wants to play football for the Patriots. On the other, Mr. Cook is interested in the legal aspects of the standard player contract and in challenging commissioner Rozelle's authority."

Further speculation raises the question of Cook's target and the speculators point to the option clause, a more liberal version of baseball's reserve clause but one with which some players are unhappy.

Under that clause in pro football's contract, a player can play out his option on the final year of his contract—the option year—and become a free agent who can sign with any of the 26 clubs. Kapp exercised that option when he left the Vikings.

Three Wins For Busy Elder In National Championships

AURORA, Ont. (CP) — Jim Elder, veteran Canadian equestrian team member, was the busiest rider at the National Championships Sunday, going 15 rounds over Grand Prix jumping courses to capture three different prizes.

The 39-year-old rider from Aurora won the $10,000 Rothmans National Grand Prix, the national riding championship and a $5,000 modified grand prix.

Elder's winning ride in the National Grand Prix came in a four-horse jumpoff in which he had three of the mounts.

Bill McLachlan's The Immigrant, Norman Stein's Adanac and Top Gallant, owned by Vincent Dunn of Parry Sound, Ont., each carried Elder through in a round with four jumping faults each.

Jim Day of Hornsby, Ont., riding a gelding, Scorpio, also made it through two rounds with only four faults to face Elder's three-horse charge.

Day rode the jumpoff course without a fault but Elder matched his ride with The Immigrant, going the route one-fifth of a second faster to win.

Elder had four faults with Adanac in the jumpoff and eight with Top Gallant to place third and fourth respectively with those two horses.

With his three placings in this the final of a nine-event series held across Canada this summer, Elder emerged the overall national champion rider.

He accumulated 177 points in the nine-event series. Torchy Miller of Montreal came second with 174 and Calgary's Barbara Simpson was third with 167.

With Sunday's final event, according to figures revealed by Theodore Kheel, labor mediator and the owners' representative in collective bargaining negotiations.

The assumption was made that Kapp's memorandum of agreement would be incorporated in the standard player contract, the usual practice, once certain tax provisions were accommodated and approved by the firm of Price Waterhouse, representing Kapp.

Price Waterhouse gave such approval just prior to the end of the NFL's regular season last December. Kapp still did not sign although continually prodded by the Patriots.

The only other reason that has surfaced, according to Kheel, for Kapp's refusal to sign was the possibility that he would sue the Vikings for libel and slander.

Since the Patriots ordered Kapp to leave training camp, the NFL owners' Player Relations Association has filed a grievance with the NFL Players' Association over his refusal to sign.

The grievance contends Kapp is violating the collective bargaining agreement which, according to Kheel, "states clearly . . . every player shall sign the standard player contract."

A further grievance may be filed, says Kheel, "to recover the payments ($58,000) for this season made in anticipation Kapp would sign, on the basis he has rendered himself incapable of playing football."

The players' association has responded that the Kapp case "is not a legitimate grievance" because Kapp is under contract—the memorandum of agreement—and played under it last year.

Asked why Kapp refused to sign the standard player contract, Cook is reported in Boston newspapers to have replied:

"There is no such thing as the standard player contract. If you went through Mr. Rozelle's contract files, you'd find these so-called standard player contracts qualified and modified in many ways."

Winning All That Counts For Teams After Titles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"It's not whether you win or lose, it's how you play the game," the old saying goes—but don't tell that to San Francisco Giants, Los Angeles Dodgers, Pittsburgh Pirates and St. Louis Cardinals.

Winning is the only thing on the minds of the four National League teams—and winning is what they did Sunday, keeping a couple of divisional races as tight as when the day's play began.

The Giants, snapping out of seven-game tailspin, struck fast to beat Atlanta Braves 6-1 and retain their meagre three-game lead in the West Division over the charging Dodgers, who won their sixth in a row with a 6-3 victory over San Diego Padres in the East Division. Nelson Briles held Montreal to six hits and blanked the Expos 4-0 to keep the Pirates 5½ games ahead of St. Louis, which got a four-hit shutout from Bob Gibson for a 4-0 triumph over Chicago Cubs.

In the two other National League games, New York Mets rallied to nose out Philadelphia Phillies 3-2 and Houston Astros won its seventh in a row, downing Cincinnati Reds 4-2.

In Saturday's games, Chicago blanked St. Louis 7-0, Montreal bested Pittsburgh 4-1, Houston nipped Cincinnati 5-2, New York bombed Philadelphia 9-2 and Atlanta edged San Francisco 5-4.

"I think we're back on the track, too," said Bobby Bonds, who helped get the Giants going with his 29th homer, a two-run shot in their four-run first inning against the Braves, then added a run-scoring double in the ninth.

Bill Sudakis drilled a pinch double in the fifth inning that cut the Padres' 3-0 lead to one run, then the Dodgers erupted for four runs in the seventh for the victory.

The Pirates gave Briles the only run he needed in the first inning as rookie Rennie Stennett doubled and scored on Bob Robertson's single. Robertson also scored in the fourth and singled in another run in the eighth giving Pittsburgh the finale of their three-game set against the Expos.

Cancelled Trip Nets Payoff

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — John Miller almost didn't make it to the $100,000 Southern Open Golf Tournament at Columbus, Ga., where he won his first major title Sunday. He had a date to go fishing.

The 24-year-old Californian had made plans to go fishing but the persistent pleas of John Montgomery, Professional Golfers' Association tournament director, finally persuaded him to enter.

So Miller bypassed his fishing trip and fired a 67 over the 6,685-yard, par-70 Green Island County Club course for a 267 total and won the $20,000 first prize by a comfortable five-stroke margin.

In second place was veteran Deane Beman with 66, earning $11,400 for his 272. In third place, one shot back, was Bobby Mitchell who set a course record Saturday with 62 but Sunday ballooned to a 71.

Wife Homenuik of Winnipeg and Wayne Vollmer of Vancouver, the only Canadians finishing, shot 71 for 282 and $633 and 74 for 289 and $190, respectively.

LONDON (CP) — "Well," Bill Drover said, "I intend to fight my backside off."

Montreal's Drover, a rough-and-tough citizen inside the ring but a gentleman outside, was discussing his heavyweight 10-rounder tonight with Danny McAlinden, one of England's top heavies.

"Never heard of him before we signed up," Drover said. "But I came over here for a win."

If honest workman Drover wins, it will be the first time he has taken a bout in Britain. But win or lose, he will give the crowd his money's worth at the World Sporting Club-black tie optional.

Wood, a relief pitcher until this season, was turned into a starter by Chuck Thinner, who is in his first full year as manager.

"At first I was reluctant about coming out of the bullpen," Wood declared. "I had been quite successful over the last three or four years in the bullpen, but Chuck is the boss, so I went along with the start-up idea."

"I feel physically hurt," Blue moaned, after going eight innings against the Twins. "My body is tired, not my arm. I feel I can go a strong six innings, but that's about all."

Outland manager Dick Williams said if Blue was leading in the fifth or sixth inning of his next start he would take his ace out for a rest, but made no mention of changing his pitching rotation.

Too Much Corky Unrau Beaverdell Wins Crown

It was a simple case of too much Corky Unrau. The heady hurler captured all the individual awards as he led Beaverdell to the championship in the Kelowna Invitational C Softball tournament held at King's Stadium.

Unrau pitched a four-hitter as Beaverdell slipped past Vancouver Sandwell 3-2 to win the title Sunday.

The hurler, picked up by Beaverdell for the tourney, allowed only 15 hits in four games, struck out 52 batters and posted a batting average of .555. He was the tip pitcher, top batter and Most Valuable Player award for a clean sweep.

Unrau's heroics led Beaverdell but they were hard-pressed to stay ahead of Vancouver in the final game. Throwing errors cost Vancouver a single run in the third inning and Beaverdell forced two more runs across in the sixth.

Vancouver came to life in the bottom of the sixth inning and Arnie Okano was hit by a pitch and scored on a triple by Pat Rooley. Rooley later scored on a sacrifice fly.

Vancouver weren't out of the game until the last out, as Jim Sheen walked and stole second and third. Unrau struck out the first two batters to face him but Sheen was the last out as he tried to reach home when Beaverdell catcher Ray Frederick lost the ball. Sheen was caught before he could reach the plate.

Peter Pals took the loss, pitching back-to-back games. He gave up only five hits.

Jerry Reese of Beaverdell matched Dooley's triple with a long blast of his own in the sixth inning.

Beaverdell didn't have an easy time getting to the final, although the first game showed signs it might be that way. They stopped Bridesville 5-0 in their first game as Unrau pitched a three-hitter. George White suffered the loss with four hits against him.

Unrau had a triple and a single in his own cause. Beaverdell scored three runs in the second inning and held on to trip Edgewood 3-1 in their second game. Jerry Moore had two hits for Beaverdell while losing pitcher Don Mayler had a double and a single and Terry Ewing two singles for the losers.

Unrau and Pals hooked up in another pitcher's battle the first time they met, and the result was the same with Beaverdell emerging 3-2 victors. Unrau allowed four hits while Pals had three against him.

Beaverdell scored two runs in the second frame and a single in the fifth and held off Vancouver, who again scored two runs in the sixth inning. The tying run died on third base in the sixth and Unrau struck out the side in the seventh frame to preserve the victory.

Vancouver's easiest game was also their first, as they breezed to a 9-4 win over Kelowna Teachers. Pals was the winner with a six-hitter, while Elgin Parker took the loss. Gary Owens and Pals each had a triple and two singles with a double off the bat of Fred Gubbels for Teachers.

Vancouver held off a late rally by Rutland Junior Rovers to claim a 4-3 win. They scored three runs in the first and one in the second while Rovers threatened with a two-run rally in the seventh but fell short.

Pals was the winning hurler with Gary Reiger the loser as Rovers outthit the winners 7-3, but lost the game on first inning errors by first baseman Gerry Fitzgerald.

Vancouver got shoved to the loser's side by Beaverdell and had to come the long way back, with a 6-5 win over Kelowna Macs in the semi-final contest.

Macs lost a 1-0 lead as Vancouver scored one run in the fourth and two in the fifth and appeared to lock it up with a three-run burst in the seventh frame.

Pals ran into trouble and Macs scored three runs before pitcher struck out John Blaniel with the tying run on third for the final out. Andre Blaniel suffered the loss on the mound.

Stu Freund had two singles for Vancouver while Dennis Weniger and Frank Loyat had doubles for the losers.

Macs started off well, with a close 5-4 win over Cams Rebels in their first game Friday night in second game loss, then a niped the winning run with a home run in the third, and Edgewood added an insurance marker in the sixth frame.

Cams Rebels were riding high until their 6-3 loss to Macs late in the tourney, as they whipped Rupp Riders 13-4 and beat Bridesville 5-3. Bob Vok was the winning pitcher in the first game, with Tom Mackie and Wally Warner sharing the loss.

Gord Fines went the distance in the second game, as Len Radcliffe went all the way for the loss.

Bridesville beat Winfield in another B-side contest early in the tourney, taking an easy 6-1 win. Fines hurled a three-hitter for the win with Billy Neid starting for Winfield and being relieved in the second inning by Vok.

Edgewood won the first game in handy fashion, whipping Winfield 12-5. Penner, with Mahler coming in in the fifth inning, was the winning pitcher. Ron Volk took the loss. Grant Gordon had a home run for the winners.

Edgewood eliminated Rovers with a 2-0 shutout, with Penner and Mahler combining for a two-hitter. Reiger was the losing hurler. Bob Kilborn scored

Bombers Setting Pace Stampede Tame Lions

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg Blue Bombers have won three straight games for the first time since 1965 and have a share of second place in the Western Football Conference, but coach Jim Spavital says they still "can't afford to look past our noses."

"We're pleased we won," Spavital said after the Blue Bombers beat last-place Edmonton Eskimos 26-14 Saturday night.

"But we had some lapses and now we head into four games in 11 days."

Winnipeg's next game is Wednesday night against Calgary Stampede, who dumped British Columbia Lions 25-10 Sunday to stay in first place six points ahead of the Blue Bombers.

and Saskatchewan Roughriders.

Quarterback Don Jonas did most of the damage as Winnipeg sent the Eskimos reeling to their eighth defeat in nine games. Jonas had a touchdown and kicked three converts, two singles and a field goal.

BOOST PLAYOFF HOPES

Mack Herron and Jim Thorpe got the other touchdowns as the Bombers improved their chances of reaching the WFC playoffs for the first time in five years.

Edmonton got a touchdown from flanker George McGowan and a convert, two field goals and a single from Dave Cutler.

The game may prove costly for Winnipeg. Defensive tackle Ray Watrin suffered a fractured hip and may be lost to the club for the remainder of the season.

In Vancouver, backup quarterback Jim Lindsey ran for two touchdowns as Stampede whipped Lions before 30,660 fans.

Lindsey, a 22-year-old rookie, took over in the first quarter after Jerry Keeling injured his left wrist.

Jesse Mims scored the other Calgary touchdown while Larry Robinson kicked a field goal and three converts and punter Bill Van Burkleo contributed a single.

The Lions, with three wins in eight games, got a touchdown from halfback Jim Young and a field goal and convert from Ken

ROOKIE STARTS

B.C. started the game with rookie Don Moorhead calling signals, but switched in the second quarter to Tom Wilkinson, back after 45 days on the injury list.

Calgary dominated the game on the ground, striking for 264 yards to B.C.'s 65. Mims had 97 yards on 18 carries and Hugh McKinnis 94 on 19.

In the air, the Lions collected 241 yards as Wilkinson completed 11 of 19 passes—eight to Young for 168 yards.

Keeling and Lindsey completed 12 of 25 passes, including Lindsey's 47-yard pass-and-run to Mims for the game's first touchdown.

Don Jones Stays Ahead Of Pack

Quarterback Don Jonas scored 14 of Winnipeg's points in the Blue Bombers' 26-14 win over Edmonton Eskimos Saturday, increasing his Western Football Conference individual scoring total to 75 points.

Jonas scored a touchdown and booted three converts, a field goal and two singles, increasing his lead in the race to 20 points.

Calgary placekicker Larry Robinson booted a field goal and three converts as the Stampede defeated B.C. Lions 25-10 Sunday. The six points gave Robinson 55 points for second place, one point ahead of Saskatchewan Roughrider full-back George Reed.

Gerry Organ of Ottawa Rough Riders scored all the points Saturday night in his team's 25-6 loss to Montreal Alouettes to maintain his lead in Eastern Football Conference scoring.

Running back Leon McQuay of Toronto Argonauts, held scoreless in his last three games, broke loose for a 64-yard touchdown run against Hamilton Tiger-Cats Sunday. The touchdown, his seventh of the season, gave him 42 points and tied him with kicker and teammate Ivan MacMillan for second place. MacMillan kicked three converts.

Richmond Planning Fast Style Of Play

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — Ron Phillips has gone for nimble-footed play in his bid to wrest the Minto Cup for Canadian junior lacrosse supremacy from the east.

He hopes his brand of lighter, faster play will make the difference when his Roadrunners from nearby Richmond meet Peterborough, Ont., PCOs tonight in the opener of the best-of-seven series.

It has been nine years since the west has held the Minto Cup, last won by a Victoria team. Since then western teams have been consistently caught flat-footed.

Not so this year, if Richmond plans pan out.

"We're going to be playing their style," said Roadrunner centre Dave Tasker, 20. "We've adopted the eastern style. We'll be running, and I'm quite sure they will be too."

WON 4 STRAIGHT

Peterborough won their eastern series in four games straight and carry such top players as Gord Floyd, who scored 63 goals and got 50 assists during the eastern season.

Another PCO, Jim Wasson, comes here with a 62-goal, 48-assist record and even Peterborough goalie Greg Thomas shared in 36 goals.

Richmond, on the other hand, didn't prove their maturity until the playoffs. After losing their first five season games, they took second place over Coquitlam and beat Burnaby in seventh-game overtime to win the western title.

Phillips, who coached Vancouver to the Minto Cup final two years ago only to fall victim to Oshawa Green Gables, says this year's western hopefuls "are not as strong physically as we were in 1969."

But he picked up Gord Oshchuk from Coquitlam because "we needed a policeman" and two other heavies from local teams.

types who won't be afraid to give it 100 per cent when the going gets tough.

PLAYED BEFORE

Four of the Richmond squad have already tasted Minto Cup play, as members of Phillips' 1969 team—captain Gary Bregan, Bob Holmes, Dave Tasker and younger brother Bob—and they've got "memories like elephants."

Peterborough had never made the national finals before this year. In Wasson, and rookie Jim Johnstone they have a goal-thirsty penalty-killing unit, good for 40 points this year. And John Grant, at 6-foot-7, is a key man on power plays, with 18 goals and 57 assists in season play.

Second game in the series is Wednesday with the third and fourth Friday and Saturday. Other games, if necessary, are scheduled for Sept. 20, 22 and 23. All games will be played in New Westminster.

Bruins Open Training Camp With 'Something To Prove'

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston Bruins opened their National Hockey League training camp Sunday in London, Ont., and general manager Milt Schmidt says the players feel they have "something to prove."

So apparently do two other players, goalies Bernie Parent of Toronto Maple Leafs and Doug Favell of Philadelphia Flyers.

The powerful Bruins had a light skating workout Sunday for 29 players in the main camp. The only player missing was defenceman Dallas Smith who had permission to attend a funeral.

Schmidt, referring to the Bruins' playoff defeat by Montreal Canadiens, said: "It's not only my thoughts but in talking to the players themselves they all feel we have something to prove."

"Maybe getting whacked last year could be the best thing that happened to us. We had nobody to blame but ourselves."

PARENT MISSING

Parent was missing the first two days of Toronto's training camp at the Maple Leaf Gardens and may be suspended. He has not been seen by Leafs since Thursday when he and his lawyer told general manager Jim Gregory he wants to renegotiate his contract. The 26-year-old goalie, acquired from the Flyers last season, is on the third year of a three-year contract.

"I'm looking for him to call," Gregory said Sunday. "Why should I go looking for him? He's broken his contract, and unless I hear from him and he has a good story, I'll have no choice but to suspend him."

Parent's former partner in goal in Philadelphia is missing from the Flyers' camp in Ottawa. Favell and the Flyers took their contract dispute to Ed Houston, the NHL arbiter, but Favell refused to accept Houston's arbitration.

The only other player missing in the Flyers' camp was centre Bobby Clarke, leading team scorer last year, who is in Philadelphia for surgery on an abscessed tooth.

Most of the 14 NHL teams now are in training camp and when Chicago Black Hawks and Pittsburgh Penguins start today, the whole league will be in training.

The first exhibition games will be played Friday when Philadelphia takes on St. Louis Blues at Flint, Mich., California Golden Seals play Pittsburgh Penguins at Brampton, Ont., and New York Rangers meet the Bruins at London.

New Hab Coach Impressed By Look At Rookie Lafleur

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens opened their National Hockey League training camp Saturday at the Forum with 63 prospects in tow and all of last spring's Stanley Cup championship squad regulars signed.

New coach Scotty Bowman put the players through a scrimmage Sunday morning and line drills in the afternoon workout.

He was impressed with the play of rookie Guy Lafleur, who led Quebec Remparts to the Memorial Cup championship last spring.

"Lafleur said he was nervous and had a bit of a cold but he still looked good," Bowman said. "I know he played a lot of right wing as a junior but there's a big opening at centre without Jean Beliveau."

Beliveau's place as captain will probably be taken by veteran centre Henri Richard, who typified most of the regulars by reporting at less than his playing weight.

One who did not was spunky Rejean Houle who apparently did what he promised last spring after the Canadiens won the Stanley Cup. Houle promised to gain some weight and he did—18 pounds.

Bowman was not annoyed, saying Houle could probably stand a few more pounds to fill out his five-foot, 11-inch frame.

AND THEY GREW HAIR

Defencemen Jean-Claude Tremblay, Guy Lapointe and Pierre Bouchard all reported with a little more than last year but it was in the shape of mustaches and sideburns.

"I don't intend to change the human equation—at least at training camp," said Bowman, obviously more concerned with the condition of his charges than their mod looks.

"I'm really pleased the way the players accepted my request that they report in shape," he said.

Serve Savard, hoping to make a comeback from the second fracture of his left leg in two years, was the first man on the ice Saturday after the team went through 300 army-like medical examinations.

Savard won the Conn Smythe trophy in 1969 as the outstanding player in that year's Stanley Cup championships. Bowman said he plans to work the lanky defenceman back into the lineup slowly.

Loss Of Ground Shocks Coody

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Charles Coody, who had to hold off Jack Nicklaus to win the World Series of Golf Sunday, was talking about the shocking loss of four strokes on a single hole.

"I wasn't feeling too good when it was over and I wasn't thinking good," said the 34-year-old Masters champion who shot a seven, two over par, on the second hole while Nicklaus made an eagle three.

That gave Nicklaus a share of top spot in the chase for the $50,000 first prize in this four-man tournament.

But Nicklaus, playing erratically, couldn't take advantage of his opportunity, handed back the lead with a string of over-par holes and let Coody claim his second title of the year and third of his seven-year pro career with a three-over-par 73 for 141 on the 7,180 yard Firestone Country Club course.

Nicklaus, the PGA champion, was next with a 71 for 142 with a Australian veteran Bruce Crampton one more stroke back at 143 after a final 70.

Crampton got into the elite field as with alternate off his Western Open title when Lee Trevino made his sweep of the U.S., Canadian and British Open crowns.

Trevino, still on the mend from a recent appendectomy, was last in the field with a 74 for 146.

Nicklaus picked up $15,000 for second, pushing his career earnings from this course alone to $303,750.

Farms 'Get Short End Of Stick' As Ottawa Gives Industry Aid

The speed with which the federal government responded to the difficulties faced by central Canadian industries is in sharp contrast with their inaction in releasing $100 million in payments to western farmers.

Dick Page of Didsbury, Alta., a vice-president of Uniform, said the federal payment should have been divvied from the new grains policy and should have been paid long ago.

"This present situation indicates no change, in fact business as usual with the farmer last in the pecking order."

SAID OVERDUE
Walter Nelson of Avonlea, Sask., president of the Palliser Wheat Growers Association, said the $100-million payment was "long overdue."

"The money is needed now, not next spring," he said.

Britain Wants Red China In UN Even If Nationalists Ousted

LONDON (AP)—Britain will Nations while allowing Peking a vote for Communist China's admission to the United Nations, even if it costs Nationalist China its seat in the world organization, senior officials said today.

The British decision was the second setback in two days to U.S. hopes of winning majority support for seating both China during the forthcoming debate on the issue at the UN General Assembly.

Japanese Foreign Minister Takeo Fukuda said a Washington news conference last week Japan would not co-sponsor a U.S. resolution aimed at keeping Taiwan in the United Nations.

Insulin Attacks Can Be Violent

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband takes medication for diabetes and claims that reactions from a sugar attack may include abusive language, nasty temper tantrums and unnatural behavior.

We have been married only a short time and I am concerned whether these are truly sugar attacks or an emotional problem. I have seen many people with sugar, and if they have attacks, it's usually a convulsion.—Mrs. M.V.

I don't know whether we are talking about the same thing or not, but if you mean an insulin reaction, some information on it may be of use not only to you but to relatives of other diabetics.

Just having diabetes, or even letting the sugar level get higher than it should, is not excuse for a nasty temper.

But if you are referring to the opposite condition—an insulin reaction, which results when an oversupply of insulin drives the patient's blood sugar to a very low level, that's something else. A convulsive type of behavior is quite common in insulin reactions, and evidently you have observed some. It is also quite common for a person in the midst of an insulin reaction to be mistaken for being intoxicated.

But a patient under these circumstances may become quite unruly as well, flail his arms, punch and kick, until his blood sugar level is raised.

If your husband has these severe reactions repeatedly, I would say that he should certainly consult his doctor as to a means of keeping his sugar level under better control.

And you should ask the doctor about the use of glucagon. This is a medication, prepared in a convenient, fixed-dose form, which you can inject with his insulin syringe—any place you can stick him without getting punched or kicked. This raises the sugar level quickly, so the patient becomes calm and cooperative within 5 to 15 minutes. Then you can give him sweetened orange juice or something else that is sugary to bring his sugar level still more into proper balance.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you please state very plainly what is known about the cause of a detached retina? Is there anything infamous about it? I got the impression that there is. I've had very good results from surgery.—N.W.

I can't imagine why anyone would want to give you the idea there's anything "infamous" about a detached retina.

The retina is fastened, like a screen, against the rear part of the eyeball. A thumping blow to the head sometimes is a factor in the retina's becoming loosened, but undoubtedly infections, retinal hemorrhage, inherited weakness and other matters have a bearing—just as some people have varicose veins and others don't; some have astigmatism and some don't, and so on.

There is certainly nothing "infamous" about it. If the loosening is by surgery, that can prevent the condition from becoming worse and in time perhaps causing blindness.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I broke my arm just below the elbow, but we moved away two weeks later. The cast has been on for seven weeks. Is that long enough? How should I remove the cast? I am a girl, 16.—L.J.

Depending on the type of fracture a cast is usually left on for 10 or 12 weeks. X-ray will determine the degree of healing. A physician would have to remove the cast—and anyway, you should let him decide when the cast is ready to be removed.

Opening lead—seven of hearts.

Board No. 54 of the 1959 Italy-U.S. match was the most amazing deal of the tournament. At both tables the final contract was three notrump.

The Italian declarer went down six! The American declarer made five notrump! The contract would have failed against proper defense! The U.S. gained 700 points on the deal.

All these oddities require some explanation. When Belladonna was South for Italy, he won the heart lead with the king and played the A-Q of clubs, which held, and another club, which Stakgold won.

Stakgold returned the five of hearts, on which Belladonna played a diamond. Harmon thought East had the missing heart and therefore played the nine, dummy playing the queen.

At this point North asked Belladonna whether he had any hearts. Belladonna said yes, whereupon the tournament director was called. In accordance with the laws, South was permitted to substitute the heart six for he diamond three.

Harmon was also allowed to change his play (as stipulated by the laws) to the heart ace instead of the nine.

But dummy's queen play could not be changed, for it was a legal play. So Harmon cashed five hearts and Belladonna eventually went down six.

At the other table, Fishbein was South for the U.S. He won the heart with the king and also led the A-Q-J of clubs. East took the king and could have killed the contract with a spade return, but he led a heart instead. West took the ace and returned a heart, thus presenting Fishbein with his ninth trick. Both defenders kept their spades as the clubs were run and Fishbein won the last two tricks with the 7-5 of diamonds to conclude one of the weirdest hands in world championship history.

FAST DRAW
LIVERPOOL, England (CP)—A showdown at this Lancashire city's university was staged to find the fastest gun in the northwest. Will, with a draw of under a third of a second, won.

SEASIDE SHOOT

Bourassa Proud Of Job Record

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — Premier Robert Bourassa told the Sherbrooke regional Liberal convention Sunday that he is proud of his government's record in producing employment, even if he hasn't reached his objective of 100,000 new jobs for 1971.

"We were right to fix an objective like that," Mr. Bourassa said, "because the population saw unemployment as the principal problem to be solved."

As far as results were concerned, Mr. Bourassa said that the government had generated about 48,000 jobs, nearly four times as many in 1971 as the Union Nationale government did in 1969.

"In any case," he said, "it was more justifiable for us to fix such an objective for ourselves than to talk about reducing taxes to the order of a billion dollars as the Parti Quebecois did."

Mr. Bourassa said that economic conditions in general had not improved across Canada and added that 82,000 young people entered the Quebec labor market in August compared with only 45,000 in Ontario.

He said that he would not make any particular moves to combat the American supplementary duty of 10 per cent on imports before studying the effects of the recently proposed federal program of subsidies.

Sea Disaster Hit Quickly

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A Portuguese naval officer says the cause of the explosion that killed eight men and sent a Portuguese fishing ship to the bottom off Newfoundland Friday will probably never be known.

Commander Antonio Santos Gaspar, a naval officer in charge of the general welfare of the Portuguese White Fleet, said Saturday night the wooden 84-ton Sao Jacinto had 400 tons of cod salted down in her holds when the engineroom explosion sank her.

She had been fishing near the Virgin Rocks on the Grand Banks, 10 miles southeast of here. The crew had just returned from the dories when the explosion broke her in two. In about 45 minutes, she sank.

"We had no time for anything," Captain Francisco Jose de Padua Corte Real said. "Everybody in the engineroom was killed."

Fire immediately followed the explosion and the lifeboats on the ship's stern section were destroyed. The forward boats had to be launched by hand because of a lack of electrical power.

About half a season's load of fish went down with the wooden hulk in an area where more than a dozen Portuguese ships have been lost in previous years.

The Virgin Rocks—some covered by no more than 18 feet of water—are a favorite fishing spot for the White Fleet ships which fish off Newfoundland from April to September.

Twenty-five of the survivors will go back to Portugal on a homebound-bound trawler. The remainder will be flown home.

Tough Edith Roars On

MIAMI (AP) — Edith, a deadly tropical storm that refuses to die, drifted 320 miles southeast of Brownsville, Tex., early today while younger sister Heidi barreled up the Atlantic coastline.

As Edith and Heidi menaced the United States mainland, Hurricane Ginger slashed a path that ending red shipping in the Atlantic east of Bermuda, the remnants of tropical storm Fern were breaking up in the mountains of Mexico and a new tropical depression was moving toward Barbados at an 18 mile-an-hour clip.

Edith, which killed 23 persons in Nicaragua and Honduras when she passed through as a hurricane last Thursday, has been downgraded to a tropical storm with winds of 40 m.p.h. But the National Hurricane Centre in Miami said she is expected to strengthen as she headed north west today at about 10 m.p.h.

The centre said Edith's path remained uncertain and interests in the west and central Gulf of Mexico were warned to remain alert in case she decided to head their way.
